

GARFIELD PARK SUNKEN GARDENS

The Sunken Gardens were designed by George Kessler and built in 1916. The renovations included complete replacement of the horticultural display, fountain basins and equipment; replacement of the failed walk systems; new urns, lights, irrigation, and terrace; and a garden enclosure fence. The renovated garden will foster future generations and their fond neighborhood and family memories.

RATIO

City of Indianapolis
Indianapolis, IN

YEAR: 1996

COSTS: $3,000,000

CONTACT:
Lynda Burrello

PHONE: 317.327.7182

LANDSCAPE ARCHITECTURE