

Wright-Dunbar Plaza - Dayton Aviation Heritage National Historical Park
National Parks Service / Dayton, OH

RATIO

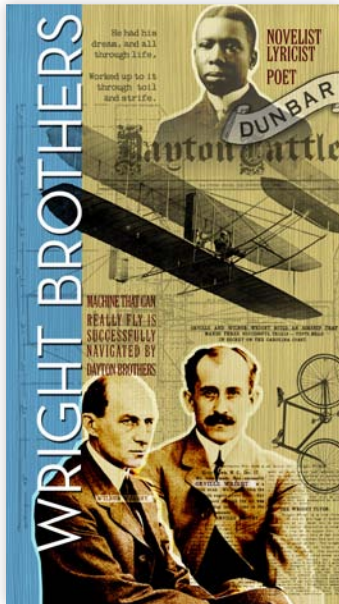

Year: 2008

Reference Contact: Ann Honious

Phone: 937.225.7705

Graphic Design

Wright-Dunbar Plaza - Dayton Aviation Heritage National Historical Park
National Parks Service / Dayton, OH

Designed as a narrative element on the exterior of the trailhead visitor's center for the Aviation Heritage Trail in Dayton, OH, this large format graphic highlights the exploits of Wilbur and Orville Wright. The visual story touches on not only their achievements in aviation, but also focuses on the fact that they were newspaper printers and bicycle mechanics as well. The other person highlighted in the graphic, Paul Laurence Dunbar (a friend of the Wright's and a local poet), was the publisher of the newspaper.